

Two assistant professors in Operations and Supply Chain Management and Innovation and Change Management
Center for Industrial Production – Aalborg University

Center for Industrial Production

The Center for Industrial Production (CIP) was established in 1999 to become the leading center in Denmark in the area of production strategy, organisation, management and innovation in the widest sense of the word.

CIP is responsible for two teaching programmes:

- A five-year, full-time BSc/MSc programme on Global Business Development.
- A two-year, part-time post-experience Master of Management of Technology programme.

The long-term research programmes of CIP focus on Strategic and Performance Management, Operations and Supply Chain Management, and Innovation and Change Management. These programmes provide the basis for an applied research programme on Globally Distributed Production.

In both its teaching and research, CIP collaborates intensively with industries and universities both in Denmark and abroad.

See <http://www.cip.aau.dk/> for more details about CIP, its teaching and research programmes, organisation and staff.

Tasks

The successful candidates are expected to research, teach, and contribute to the ongoing development of teaching and research in the areas of Operations Management/Strategy, Supply Chain Management, Innovation Management and/or Change Management.

Qualifications

A PhD degree on a relevant topic. Excellent communication skills in Danish and/or English. Team player. Enthusiastic.

Further information

Professor John Johansen, PhD
jj@production.aau.dk
+45 9635 8995

Professor Harry Boer
hboer@production.aau.dk
+45 9635 9949

Period and salary indication

The positions are initially open for three years. An extension after that, in the form of tenured positions, is not excluded. The starting salary will be approx. € 40,000 per year.

Application

Applicants send a letter with curriculum vitae (indicating teaching and research qualities), a list of publications, three copies of relevant publications and the names of two referents before 26 October 2007 to:

Mrs. Pia Lund (secretary)
Fibigerstraede 16
9220 Aalborg
DENMARK